

Adult Mental Health
Useful Apps, Helplines and Websites

INTRODUCTION

1 in 4 adults will experience mental health issues every year.

These mental health issues can range from general worries that are part of everyday life to more severe conditions like depression. Prevention and early intervention are vital, and recovery is possible with the right support and resources. It's therefore important that people are signposted quickly to the right support at the right time.

This document, while not exhaustive, gives a comprehensive overview of various helplines and websites that individuals and families can be signposted to.

Distress and Suicidal Thoughts

Some people find that talking with friends and family about their feelings can be a real source of support for coping with distress or suicidal thoughts. It might be helpful for them to map their support network, and think about people they could call if they are feeling suicidal. Other people may prefer to seek more professional support or call a helpline:

Breathing Space: A free helpline for individuals experiencing symptoms of low mood, depression, or anxiety, and offers free and confidential advice for individuals over the age of 16. Call 0800 83 85 87, 6pm to 2am Monday to Thursday; and from 6pm Friday throughout the weekend to 6am Monday.

NHS24 Mental Health Hub: Telephone advice and support on healthcare can be obtained from NHS24 by phoning 111; the Mental Health Hub is open 24/7.

Samaritans: Provide confidential, non-judgemental emotional support 24 hours a day for people who are experiencing feelings of distress or despair. You can contact Samaritans free by phoning 116 123 or via email on jo@samaritans.org.

SHOUT: A free, confidential, 24/7 text messaging support service for anyone who is struggling to cope. Text SHOUT to 85258.

Some people may find it difficult to cope and might think of ending their life. If you are concerned about an individual's mental health and wellbeing and feel they may be in distress, their Doctor should be their first point of contact. If it is out of hours, call 111. If you feel the individual is in immediate danger, please call 999 for assistance.
