Useful Apps, Helplines and Websites

INTRODUCTION

Mental health problems range from the general worries and grief we experience as part of everyday life to the most desolate like depression. It is reported that 1 in 4 adults will experience mental health issues in any given year. Many of these mental health problems are mild and temporary and often manageable with help from supportive trusted friends, families and colleagues. Prevention and early intervention is vital and recovery is possible with the right support and resources. For some, support may be required from an organisation who specialises in the area that is impacting on their mental health for example, bereavement or becoming a new parent. It is important that those requiring support have a range of early intervention options and be signposted quickly to resources appropriate to their needs. This document whilst not exhaustive, provides a comprehensive offer of various helplines and websites that can be used to signpost individuals and their families to.

Distress and Suicidal Thoughts

Some people find that talking with friends and family about their feelings can be a real source of support for coping with distress or suicidal thoughts. It might be helpful for them to map their support network, and think about people they could call if their feeling suicidal. Other people may prefer to seek more professional support or call a helpline:

Breathing Space: A free helpline for individuals experiencing symptoms of low mood, depression, or anxiety, and offers free and confidential advice for individuals over the age of 16. Call 0800 83 85 87, 6pm to 2am Monday to Thursday; and from 6pm Friday throughout the weekend to 6am Monday.

NHS24 Mental Health Hub: Telephone advice and support on healthcare can be obtained from NHS24 by phoning 111; the Mental Health Hub is open 24/7.

Samaritans: Provide confidential non-judgemental emotional support 24 hours a day for people who are experiencing feelings of distress or despair. You can contact Samaritans free by phoning 116 123 or via email on jo@samaritans.org.

SHOUT: A free, confidential, 24/7 text messaging support service for anyone who is struggling to cope. Text SHOUT to 85258.

For some people they may be finding it difficult to cope and may think of ending their life, if you are concerned about an individual's mental health and wellbeing and feel they may be in distress, their Doctor should be their first point of contact. If you feel the individual is in immediate danger please call 999 for assistance.
