NHS Scotland Sustainability Strategy

The Scottish Government has launched the NHS Scotland Climate Emergency and Sustainability Strategy 2022-2026. This sets out plans to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, the impact on the environment, how we adapt to climate change and to better contribute to the United Nations sustainable development goals over the next four years.

To play our part in tackling the climate crisis, NHS Scotland is aiming to become a net-zero health service by 2040.

NHSGGC is working on our own sustainable implementation strategy which will be available later this year and will detail how we will realise the ambitions outlined within the Climate Emergency and Sustainability Strategy.

CISCO-19 study

Have you NOT had COVID-19? Would you be interested in a heart health check with an MRI and CT scan?

Are you over 65 years of age?

Or over 40 years of age with one or more of the following?

- Family history of coronary heart disease or stroke
- Diabetes
- Current or former smoker
- Rheumatoid arthritis
- High blood pressure
- High cholesterol
- Body mass index over 30 kg/m²

The CISCO-19 study, led by Professor Colin Berry, is looking for people who have not been infected with COVID-19 and who have no history of heart problems (e.g. heart attack). The study will involve a blood test (i.e. COVID-19 antibodies and research bloods) and an MRI and CT scan of your heart, lungs and kidneys. You would be asked to attend for a study visit at the Clinical Research Facility, QEUH.

If interested or for more information, please contact the study team at: Cisco19Study@ggc.scot.nhs.uk or call 0141 232 7600 for the Clinical Research Facility.
