Glasgow Royal Assisted Conception Services: Access to Electronic Consents

As a clinic, we are now providing electronic consents which gives a user friendly and flexible approach to the consenting process.

Fertility Consent is a secure online platform which enables patients to remotely access the relevant medical and legal information to allow them to provide informed consent. Digitally signing consent forms also eliminates the need for paper information leaflets and consent forms.

We will start this process whilst you are on the waiting list

In order to start this process, we will register yourself and your partner (if applicable) in our electronic medical record system using the demographic details you have registered with the NHS including:

- Full name (as per your ID)
- Date of birth
- CHI (if known)
- Mobile telephone number
- Marital Status

Once we create your profile on the platform you will receive a text message with a link and a unique phrase to enable you to get started.

If you own a valid passport, you must use this as your proof of identification. If you have changed your name after getting married but it hasn't been changed on your photographic ID, we will also need a copy of your marriage certificate.

If you require an interpreter, additional support or have any issues using the online system, please contact us and we can offer another option.

Yours sincerely,

Samra Khan
